POSITION PURPOSE:

Reporting to the College President, the Vice President of Finance and Administrative Services is the chief fiscal officer for the campus and oversees the College's budget. Supports a climate that promotes innovation and improved services to students and the college community, and cooperates with area staff, faculty, and other managers to develop processes that are student-friendly and supportive of student success. Promotes a culture of inclusiveness with all campus and district constituencies using a collaborative, collegial leadership style. Serves as the key liaison with the District on all matters of budget and finance including financial reporting, fiscal policies, regulation administration, audits and other services as assigned. Provides leadership and vision to the College for all phases of financial resource management in alignment with the College's mission, vision, and goals.

NATURE and SCOPE:

Supervises the Director of College Operations and the Director of College Fiscal Services, with administrative oversight and responsibilities for budget, human resources, bond measures, facilities, facilities rental, custodial and grounds, grants management, and some enterprise programs.

KEY DUTIES and RESPONSIBILITIES:

Includes but are not limited to the following duties and responsibilities:

1. Provides leadership and vision in the planning, direction, administration and evaluation of all De Anza College budget development, fiscal services, human resources, facilities, and related college programs and services in a culturally and ethnically diverse college community.
2. Provides management oversight for accounting, finance and administrative office functions, including review and documentation of procedures.
3. Represents the College with Federal, State, and Local government entities, legal counsel, the District Office, auditors, and the Chancellor's Office of the California Community Colleges.
4. Develops an annual estimate of income and expenditures for various college programs, making recommendations to the College President on a balanced budget that supports opportunities to strengthen services to students and the campus community.
5. Represents the College in all District budget and finance committees and decision-making processes and provides institutional leadership in the promotion of collegial consultation processes through active participation in college and district-wide committees.
6. Collaborates with the Vice President of Instruction, Vice President of Student Services, and other senior staff to integrate instruction, support services, and operational services for student success.
